

Next stop on the ABCs tour of Wyoming's geologic wonders ...

Hell's Half Acre

- On U.S. Highway 20/26 between Casper & Shoshoni
- An example of loosely consolidated sedimentary rocks of varying resistance to weathering that eroded into unusual & spectacular forms
- Present topography is result of active erosion, creating badlands within the drainage basin of the South Fork of the Power River & near its headwaters

Photo by: WSGS geologist Jacob Carnes

Interpreting the past, _____ providing for the future

_____ www.wsgs.wyo.gov

